According to her, the soldiers on sighting her at the American embassy where she went to lodge a formal complain to the embassy on the killing of her husband and three sons

Began to attack her, accusing her of coming to bomb the embassy because she was wearing Hijab. One of the soldiers who recognized her as a member of shittes told his fellow soldiers not to release her that she was an extremist.

Members of IMN have come under series of attacks by the Nigerian Security Forces with their leader, Sheik Zakzaky being held captive for over two years against a valid court order that says he should be released unconditionally.
